

REMARKS

With the present Amendment applicant has added claim 9, another independent claim.

In the Examiner's rejection of the claims, the Examiner indicated that addition of one medicinal preparation to the other is just equivalent to increasing the concentration of the medicinal substance. It is respectfully submitted that this is not so.

In accordance with the present invention, the same initial substance is utilized which has a certain chemical formula and a composition. From the initial substance, first an active medicinal substance in the material carrier is produced in a therapeutic dose by a method which is well known in making medicinal substances or medication, and the thusly obtained first active medicinal substance has certain properties of well known medications. Then, in the inventive method another medicinal substance is produced which is a potentiated medicinal substance or homeopathic medicinal substance and it is produced by a homeopathic method which is well known in the homeopathic medicine. Both methods of making the first medicinal substance and the second medicinal substance are disclosed in the present application. The second, homeopathic medicinal substance is produced from the same initial substance having the same chemical formula or composition, but prepared in accordance with another manufacturing method which is a homeopathic method. Then, the thusly produced active medicinal substance in a therapeutic dose and a potentiated medicinal substance in a homeopathic dose are mixed from one another. The substances have, as well known, totally different chemical-physical biological properties, and they are produced by different methods, and then they are intermixed with one another. The potentiated homeopathic medicinal substance contains only few molecules of the initial substance and is prepared in a totally different way, so that it possesses information about the initial substance. This information can be presented by electromagnetic waves of certain frequency range. The active medicinal substance contains a significant amount of the initial substance, and possesses a totally different property. When the substances are mixed with one another, the information from the homeopathic medicinal substance presented as electromagnetic waves is transferred to the material carrier or the active medicinal substance.

The novel features of the present invention are not disclosed in the reference applied by the Examiner originally, and can not be derived from it as a matter of obviousness.

Reconsideration and allowance of present application is most respectfully requested.

Should the Examiner require or consider it advisable that the specification, claims and/or drawings be further amended or corrected in formal respects in order to place this case in condition for final allowance, then it is respectfully requested that such amendments or corrections be carried out by Examiner's Amendment, and the case be passed to issue. Any costs involved should be charged to the deposit account of the undersigned (No. 26-0085). Alternatively, should the Examiner feel that a personal discussion might be helpful in advancing this case to allowance, he is invited to telephone the undersigned (at 631-243-3818).

Respectfully submitted,
